*Please describe the nature of your inquiry:

I plan to file a court case (either small claims or federal) against Affinity Federal Credit Union regarding paper checks that Affinity's website claims it paid on December 1, 2017; then mailed (but not paid) on December 1, 2017, with at least one NSF claim by Affinity with regard to Verizon several days later, although I scheduled Affinity to pay (not mail a check to) Verizon on the same day that I received my Social Security disability payments for $816.00 days (or weeks) before in a manner that appears that Affinity purposely floated checks to create a situation where I would spend more than what was in my account, and then have my exempt SSDI funds charged a $30.00 overdraft fee. My inquiry concerns whether NCUA can monitor Affinity so that Affinity knows that I contacted you to ensure that Affinity provides copies of all paper checks that were mailed to my creditors and all documentation that establishes when Affinity released my funds to
